Small Acreage Farming:

What Might I Grow?

Guest:

Steve Ayers, Small Farms Educator
University of Illinois Extension

Steve Ayers, Small Farms Educator with University of Illinois Extension discusses, Small Acreage Farming, What Might I Grow? In his Extension role, he assists landowners in determining what possible crops may be profitable and fit the owners lifestyle. Bring your questions about which vegetables or fruits might be a good fit for your small acreage. We will explore data from the USDA, University of Kentucky Center for Crop Diversification, University of Illinois and local input.
